Listing of the Claims:

Claims 1-10 (cancelled)

Claim 11 (new): A glass partition comprising:

a pair of frameless glass side parts attached to a floor and a ceiling; and a frameless glass element attached nonpositively to the side parts and to the ceiling exclusively by a permanently elastic compound.

Claim 12 (new): The glass partition of claim 11 wherein the permanently elastic compound is at least one of a silicone and an acrylic material.

Claim 13 (new): The glass partition of claim 11 wherein the glass side parts each have a longitudinal edge, the glass element having a pair of longitudinal edges which are attached to respective longitudinal edges of the side parts.

Claim 14 (new): The glass partition of claim 11 further comprising a channel installed on the ceiling, the side parts and the glass element being received in the channel and attached nonpositively to the channel by the permanent elastic compound.

Claim 15 (new): The glass partition of claim 11 further comprising a pair of channels installed on the floor, the side parts being received in respective said channels and attached nonpositively to the channels by the permanent elastic compound.

Claim 16 (new): The glass partition of claim 11 further comprising a pair of vertically oriented stiffening elements attached to the side parts at right angles.

Claim 17 (new): The glass partition of claim 16 wherein the stiffening elements are attached to the side parts by the permanently elastic compound.

Claim 18 (new): The glass partition of claim 11 further comprising a door installed between the side parts and below the glass element.

Claim 19 (new): The partition of claim 11 wherein the side parts and the glass element are coplanar.

Claim 20 (new): The partition of claim 11 wherein the side parts lie in planes forming an acute angle with the plane of the glass element.
